Design Story

Cabana is inspired by the form of spoodrift -- warm sunshine, golden beach, green coconut trees, original ecology of thatched cottage and sea breeze that blows up blossoming waves. All of these make people feel pleasant and peaceful. The design elements of Cabana products are derived from waves. The seat cushion adopts arc-shaped wave form, and the backrest is highlighted by the wave posture. Its combination design stems from different functions of little huts by the sea.

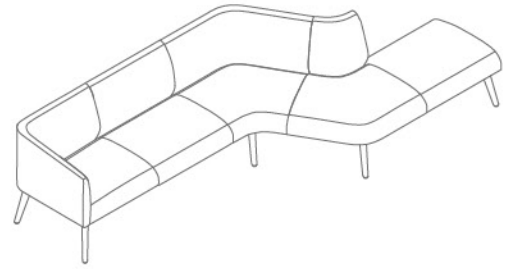

Cabana means “Beach House”, which echoes the original design inspiration and ideas with the hope to create a comfortable, warm, humanistic and cozy place for users in a regular, rigid and serious office space. Chalet is a transfer station to the vitality of nature, where different product modules can be combined and used to constitute different functional places similar to beach terrace. Flexible functional accessories provide comprehensive support for different spaces.

Product Story

Through the combination of different modules, Cabana can be flexibly applied in open leisure places, social places, collaboration spaces, reception spaces, etc, where the employees can freely talk and discuss with each other, or focus on their own things, promoting communication and collaboration. By combining different materials and colors, the product can speak for the enterprises and employees, revealing the corporate personality and culture.
